The T2450CT Satellite Pro – get connected

Bad news for desktop PCs: Toshiba's Satellite Pro notebooks have got even better. Near limitless connectivity and expansion options make the new T2450CT the perfect all-in-one PC. And while desktop PCs appear hopelessly frozen in time and space, the T2450CT enjoys complete freedom and the best connections.

The T2450CT has two PCMCIA 2.0 slots as standard. These allow users to send and receive data from around the world with one slot, for instance, while using the other for an additional hard disk or Toshiba CryptCard security solution.

The T2450CT also has the gift of sound and vision. Thanks to its built-in SCSI 2 interface, it can connect to a wide range of external devices including an external CD-ROM drive. Add an optional sound card and you've got a mobile multimedia machine par excellence.

The new Satellite Pro T2450CT has an IntelDX4 processor running at 75 MHz, 8 MB of standard memory, a 320 or 500 MB hard disk drive and a brilliant 9.5" TFT colour screen that, at 640 x 480 resolution, can show up to 65,536 colours all at the same time. It can even do this simultaneously on internal and external screens. Additionally the T2450CT can also show super VGA resolutions on external monitors alone.

And to make sure these super clear graphics appear as fast as possible, there's a local-bus for video signals and a graphics accelerator especially optimised for Windows software. So next time you're ready for take off, take it from Toshiba.
